

The first book that provides information on the history, people, beauty and attraction of one of the world's truly wild places in one, easy-to-read volume.

It describes the attraction of the harsh, bleak, yet stunning vistas of the Sperrgebiet, Namib Desert and lower Orange River.

A valuable guide for anyone interested in wild places.

Malcolm Bertoni was born and raised in Cape Town, South Africa. He has travelled and worked extensively to Europe, USA, Africa, South East Asia and China. He also lived and worked in Namibia for eight years. He moved to Australia in the early 80s. Sperrgebiet is his third book.
